~~Leica M6 / Leica 35mm Summicron f/2 Lens / Kodak Porta 400. This point might be a bit more controversial: many people who first get a Leica buy a 50mm lens because that is the lens that Henri Cartier-Bresson shot with. I don't want to poo-poo the 50mm lens too much.~~

~~Leica Manual - ERIC KIM~~

~~Leica makes haste slowly. The M4-P's .72 magnification six brightline finder remains the standard Leica M6 finder to this day. Some veteran Leica lovers believe the M4-P to be made to a generally higher standard than the M4-2 before it, others argue the point. The great majority of M4-P's are black chrome, they were not made in black paint.~~

~~Leica M Guide - CameraQuest~~

~~The LEICA M6 and M6 TTL are Leica's most advanced mechanical rangefinder cameras, and superb cameras by any gauge. They are a bargain used today, since most Leica users prefer to pay more for the newer electronic cameras like the M9 and M7. If you pay attention, you can squeeze into an M6 for just under four figures, which is as cheap as used LEICA M bodies go, and the M6 is an extremely functional camera.~~

~~LEICA M6 and M6 TTL - Ken Rockwell~~

~~The Leica M6 is a rangefinder camera manufactured by Leica from 1984 to 2002. The M6 combines the silhouette of the Leica M3 and Leica M4 with a modern, off-the-shutter light meter with no moving parts and LED arrows in the viewfinder. Informally it is referred to as the M6 "Classic" to distinguish it from the "M6 TTL" models, and to indicate its "Classic" M3 dimensions. The top and bottom plates were made from lighter, cheaper magnesium alloy rather than the heavier machined brass of the M3 and~~

~~Leica M6 - Wikipedia~~

~~The Leica M6 - also commonly known as the Leica M6 Classic or Leica M6 Non-TTL - is a 35mm film rangefinder camera designed and manufactured by Leica in Germany between 1984 and 1998. The camera was the successor to the Leica M4-P, which was produced concurrently for the first two years of the M6's 12 year production.~~

~~The Leica M6 Classic and TTL come in the standard 0.72x but they're also available in 0.85x (and 0.58x but it's not as common). I was so confused when I first tried to wrap my head around what this all was, but this diagram cleared it all up for me and hopefully will do the same for you.~~

~~original M-series Leica, the M3. The M3 set the design precedents for the other M-series Leicas: the M1 (further simplified from the M2) and the MP (a special model for press photographers quite similar to the M2). More recently, the M4 (an improved version of the M3) took over the top roost. But all the Leica models mentioned are nearly ...~~

~~Leica M6 User Guide - silo.notactivelylooking.com~~

~~Leica M6 cameras are completely mechanical, manual cameras. Only the light meter requires batteries to operate. The M6 TTL has a hot shoe for a flash unit, and a bulb setting for use with the flash. The manual setting allows you to select the shutter speed, the aperture or width of the lens opening, and the ISO setting.~~

~~The M6 and Contax G series are not equivalent; they only look it. It depends on what you like: lots of automation or lots of manual intervention. The Leica lacks any aids apart from the rangefinder and exposure meter (a strength in my view). I have 35mm F2, 50mm F2 and 90mm F2.8 - only the body and 35mm were new.~~
