Research paper from the year 2011 in the subject Business economics - Marketing, Corporate Communication, CRM, Market Research, Social Media, grade: A, The University of Surrey, course: Operations Management and Business Strategy, language: English, abstract: This paper seeks to compare and contrast the differences in the way manufacturing firms and service firms operate. For this purpose the paper conducts a comparative analysis of the operations strategy of Toyota, the world's leading car manufacturer and Ryanair, Europe's leading low-cost airline. Firstly, it will be dealt with the competitive factors both companies need to excel at in order to gain competitive edge and sustain economic viability from a long-term perspective. Secondly, it will outline the major aspects

Study that enable both companies to succeed in a highly competitive and dynamic business environment. In particular, it will draw on key components of successful operations strategies, such as process design, human resource management, innovation management, supply chain management and quality management. Finally, the paper concludes by summing up the key points and highlighting the respective implications. In addition, the paper provides a more comprehensive strategic analysis of Ryanair's low-cost strategy in the appendix in order to promote understanding.

management. The authors identify the key questions in strategic analysis and provide an understandable framework for answering these questions. Several case studies are used to focus understanding and enable a more thorough analysis of the concepts and issues, especially useful for students involved with case study analysis. Accompanying the text is a CD-Rom containing the models, tutorial guidance, and a PowerPoint presentation. A blank template is provided for each model, enabling students to actively interact and enter their own data - an effective 'what if...' facility. This will enable students to appreciate the limitations as well as the advantages of the strategic models.

Study course: Business Strategy, language: English, abstract: This report conducts a competitive analysis of Europe's leading low-cost carrier Ryanair. For this purpose, various concepts and frameworks of the strategic paradigm are applied, such as Michael Porter's Five Forces and Value Chain Analysis, SWOT or Resource-Based View. When it comes to Ryanair's external environment the report provides extensive information on the external factors that are having a significant impact on Ryanair's low-cost strategy and its economic viability. For example, it takes into account recent global incidents, such as the volcanic eruption in Island or the public turmoil in Libya. Furthermore, based on the competitive analysis recommendations are made on Ryanair's future direction and as to how it can sustain and extend its strategic position. In particular, this part deals with strategic Seminar paper from the year 2017 in the subject Business economics - Miscellaneous, grade: 1,0, BSP Business School Berlin (form. Potsdam), course: Strategic Management & Controlling, language: English, abstract: The digital transformation of the health market is gathering pace. The health sector is also expected to grow enormously in the next few years. The global market volume is expected to more than double from almost $ 80 billion $ by 2015 to more than 200 billion $ by 2020. Innovative business models ensure that new suppliers are able to get shares in the market. Thus, they are becoming a direct competition for traditional companies across the entire value chain. As a result, the question is clear for all parties involved: “How can companies in the pharmaceutical sector benefit from digitalization and thus grow?” A possible answer to this can be the business model “Healths Angels”, which was developed as part of the “Agorize e-pocrate” student challenge. Therefore, the developed business model is to be compared with that of the pharmaceutical company F. Hoffmann-La Roche AG in order to determine a useful strategic alignment. In the first place, an analysis of the current market situation is offered, to provide an overview of the status quo. Both, Roche AG and the business model of “Healths Angels”, are first presented with their core competencies, in order to identify the stakeholders afterwards.

Subsequently, the political, economic, sociological and technological factors will be shown for an external analysis. This step also leads to the next point, the Porter's Five Forces model, which helps to gain a holistic view of an industry by considering barriers to entry, supplier power, buyer power, threat of substitution and competition. An additional internal analysis provides a good help to identify strengths and weaknesses. However, before a final recommendation about the strategic alignment can be made, the value chain of both companies must be analysed and shown. A portfolio analysis provides the foundation for a possible strategy development and investment decisions for Roche AG. The final SWOT analysis identifies the strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats for both companies. After this, a final recommendation will be drawn for both

This book demonstrates how to solve a business / strategy case in a structured manner by using the Socratic dialogue approach between the interviewer / client / CEO and the interviewee / consultant.

The book aims to improve our understanding of what it means to create high-quality analytical products by focusing on the concept of relevance for policy-makers. Despite variations in context, strategic analysts in different sectors (in both intelligence and non-intelligence government organizations, private consultancies, think tanks, and academia) face similar problems in identifying the needs of their clients and setting up organizations with the mandates, structures, and personnel necessary to address those needs. The objective is therefore to identify these common challenges, compare solutions, and share lessons learned. To do so, broader thematic reflections on strategic analysis are combined with innovative case studies of how organizations have worked to successfully produce relevant analysis. The first section explores challenges to achieving relevance at the level of the analyst, while the remainder of the book analyses cases at the level of organizations.
