This may explain owner comments that their pet does not “like/eat much hay”, which can impact health if they are not ingesting sufficient digestible and indigestible fibre (Johnson-Delaney 2009). For omnivores, like rats, the diet embraces an even wider range of foodstuffs, including seeds, berries, eggs, insects, carcasses,

That one gets the attention of the bar owner, not just because of the expense, but more so because a third bust means they lose their liquor license. As a result, the bar owner will try to negotiate his/her way out of the second bust. If they succeed, they often continue to allow discrete smoking in their facility, though with a bit more caution.
