This can be modified based on your classroom dynamics, but a simple format that works well goes like this : 1) Pro Team introduction and reasons; 2) Con Team introduction and reasons; 3) open debate; 4) audience questions; 5) Pro Team conclusion; 6) Con Team conclusion. Typically, the purpose of debates is to encourage spontaneous, reasoned speech. Too much structure encourages students to read from a script; but too little structure could result in a screaming match.
